Hey Dr. Lawrence,

Since our last meeting, we have fully set up esLint and pyLint, and have made other quality-of-life improvements for development. As for development, the SQL front-end editor successfully takes input and allows students to execute the code prior to submission. The Relax editor successfully adds any and all symbols from the button panel above to the position of the cursor.

No questions for now. See you next Wednesday at 12.

Kind regards,
Matthew Obirek (he/him)
